Welcoming the NRA to the GATEWAY CITY

The Missouri Sport Shooting Association (MSSA) proudly welcomes the NRA to the Gateway City for the 2nd time in the last decade. MSSA and its members work very hard to promote and support the shooting sports in the state of Missouri.

Our youth programs in our state are widely known for being very successful and for raising up the next generation of responsible shooters. Of course being a responsible shooter means being a responsible voter as well.

MSSA maintains wonderful relationships with groups such as the GCLA (Gateway Civil Liberties Alliance) and the WMSA (Western Missouri Shooters Alliance) which works very closely with our legislators in Jefferson City to make sure that our state maintains our firearm freedoms.

Over the last 20 years, Missouri has enjoyed many victories both politically and in the realms of firearms education and training. All of this means a better state that welcomes shooters, training events and even manufacturers.

We hope you will visit the MSSA booth at this years members meeting and convention in St. Louis, Missouri!

Take A Child Shooting!

MSSA works very hard to give kids unbelievable opportunities to attend and join in on shooting events, competition event and even youth hunting events. Its important that we get youth of all ages experience with shooting safety education and share the enjoyment of sport shooting in all of its forms.

If you would like to be a part of this effort, please contact MSSA and let us know how you would like to help. We are currently looking for trained coaches and parents looking to be involved in shooting sports events with their kids. Travel around the state is possible as well as travel around other parts of the country on certain occasions. Many times, travel expenses can be offset by MSSA funds.

MSSA MEMBERS can help fund our shooting program events and pay for our shooters expenses by keeping memberships up to date or simply by donating as much as possible to the MSSA either by check in the mail or online securely at our website.

2012 Missouri State Junior Olympic Championships held at Pioneer Gun Club, Kansas City, Missouri

By Edward Camp, Director of Junior Shooting, Pioneer Gun Club.

Over the weekend of January 7th and 8th of 2012, the Pioneer Gun Club, Junior Division held the Junior Olympics for shooting for the state. The events were 3-Position Smallbore, International Air Rifle, Air Pistol & Sport Pistol. There were 45 entries for these events, held over the 2 day period. The youths competed for the Gold, Silver and Bronze state medals, in both men and women categories, and also to earn an invite to the National Junior Olympic shooting events held at the Olympic Center in Colorado Springs this April.

Garrett Spurgeon, of Canton Missouri, won both Gold Medals in the Men's 3-P Smallbore and International Air Rifle. Garrett has a shooting scholarship to West Virginia and we wish him all the best. Taking the Silver Medal in 3-P Smallbore was Jacob Butler of Joplin and the Bronze Medal went to MaKennon Doran of Ozark Missouri. On the women's side of the 3-P Smallbore, the Gold Medal went to Destiny Lawler of Raymore, Missouri, the Silver Medal went to Theresia Ohms of Lake Winnebago and the Bronze Medal went to Desiree Libeer of Independence, Missouri.

As mentioned above Garrett Spurgeon won the men's Gold Medal in International Air Rifle. Winning the Silver Medal was MaKennon Doran of Ozark and the Bronze Medal winner was Jack Berhorst of Lawson, Missouri. In the women's division of International Air Rifle we had three competitors, but two were from out of state, Texas and North Dakota, and were ineligible for state medals. Winning the Gold Medal was Tessa Howald of Ozark Missouri.

In the Air Pistol event we were a little shy of competitors having two men and only one young lady. Winning the Gold Medal for the men was Clinton Hinton of Canton and the Silver Medal winner was Clayton Parker of Salem Missouri. Winning the Gold Medal for the women's Air Pistol was Lyndsey Parker, also of Salem Missouri.

In the Sport Pistol event we did not have any lady competitors and this was a disappointment. We did have plenty of men competitors through. Winning the men's Gold Medal was Clayton Hinton of Canton, Missouri. Winning the Silver Medal was Ryan Muller of Independence and the Silver Medal was won by Jacob Summer Raytown, Missouri.

In all it was a very good event. Many of these competitors should get an invitation to Colorado Springs for the nationals. Congratulations to all of them for competing in a very fun and exciting sport.

What this event has shown me is that we need to get more young ladies involved in the shooting sports, especially pistol. But the main idea is to get young people involved in all forms of shooting sports. These young shooters are the future of shooting sports and firearm ownership. If you know of a young person who is interested, take them to your local shooting club or range. If you don't know someone, donate a shooting item, money or time to a youth shooting team, they are all in need of equipment and help. Help out the youth in their shooting endeavors however you can. Thank you.

Liberty Notes

By Kevin L. Jamison

Spring 2012

It is a good day for Liberty.

Lt. Ilario Pantano, USMC, was accused of murdering insurgents in Iraq by a sergeant he had demoted and who had changed the story several times. The Marines charged Lt. Pantano with murder. It was found that an autopsy was necessary to convict him so one was arranged. A forensic examiner found that the insurgents had been shot in the chest, not the back, to the surprise of Marine officers who had been loudly declaring Lt. Pantano's guilt. This is not the first time guilt was presumed on questionable evidence. Once a Congressman, himself a retired Marine, declared a group of Marines to be war criminals. They were later found to be innocent but the congressman never apologized.

I watched a DVD "Justice: What's the Right Thing to Do?" My life is pursuit of justice and I have always wanted a picture of it. It records a Harvard philosophy course. The professor is good; he does not tell students the "right" answer or ridicule student comments. Much of the DVD is composed of student comments. I was disappointed in the quality of these comments finding them to consist largely of clichés. The class raises interesting cases and proves the legal adage, "Hard cases make bad law." The first is a British case "R. v Dudley & Stephens." The guests of honor were officers on the Yaught "Mignonette" when it sank. Four men made it to the lifeboat. After 19 days adrift two of the survivors killed the weakest survivor and ate the body. The third man did not participate in the killing, but did in the eating. He became a prosecution witness. The two were convicted in a convoluted procedure and sentenced to six months in prison. Despite public sympathy the prosecution wanted to establish the principle that no matter how desperate the circumstances the law does not countenance the murder of the weakest member of a group. The case stands for the proposition, which I have said many times, you can't kill and eat people. Under threat you can kill and in extreme circumstances you can eat persons already dead, but you cannot do both.

The Harvard class covers Immanuel Kant's "Categorical Imperative." Kant insisted that one must always tell the truth regardless of the circumstances. The class discussed the ethical response if a murderer comes to your home demanding the location of a friend you have hidden. Not one of these Harvard students suggested putting a pistol in his face and ordering him to the ground. If I can legally kill the fellow, I can lie to him. A murderer has placed himself out of the human community and I owe him nothing.

I'd like to know what the learned Larry Swickard thinks of this DVD. If a few hundred of you could force him to watch it, let me know when you are finished.

A group of men celebrated the 4th of July by shooting a pistol at a lake. The bullet bounced off the water like a flat rock skips across a pond and killed an 11-year old girl a mile away. The gun's owner pled to manslaughter. There is now a demand to make firing a gun in the city limits a felony.

Dinner costs will be $15 per person (pre-register) again this year. $20 per person at the door.

Meeting to begin at 2pm. and Dinner to begin at 6pm.

It is claimed that the Iraq war is over. The enemy still exists and is still active but American units are no longer there. This proves we have no intent to occupy the area, but the enemy will spin it that we were driven out. America is famous for advertising, but we sell soap better than we sell our story.

Some regard all wars as evil unless against nazis, and one pacifist voted against that.

Gun “buybacks” claim to be a “success” getting guns from non-violent owners. They actually get junk and sellers get good deals for broken guns. I have heard of collectors working the line of sellers to skim off anything valuable.

I saw another DVD “Relentless Enemies” which concerned the battle between lions and buffalo on an island in an African swamp. The lions prey on the buffalo who present a wall of horns in defense. When the lions catch a straggler the buffalo charge and drive him off, but never press their charge home. This shows the defect of a purely defensive strategy, the lions will take a straggler, but the buffalo never take a lion.

I’ve had a run of clients who want to tell me how to practice law. That’s unfair, I don’t tell them how to steal.

Immigrants with criminal records are placed in deportation. This is ironic because some of our ancestors came here as an alternative to being hung.

The Tea Party is vilified because racists tried to influence it. The same anti-Semites are working on the “occupy” movement yet the same critics have nothing to say.

On 12 November, 2011 Luke Boenker of Maryland Heights Missouri became the first Missourian in thousands of years to take a deer with an atlatl. An atlatl is a spear throwing stick which increases the speed and power of the spear. It was the “assault weapon” of the Stone Age. It was replaced by the bow and arrow.

In 2000 Attorney Richard Buchli was charged with the first degree murder of his law partner. In 2008 the Court of Appeals granted him a new trial because the prosecution had not disclosed all the evidence to his lawyer. In December, 2011 the same court upheld the trial judge’s order essentially dismissing the murder charge because the prosecution had still not disclosed all the evidence to the defense. This is not a trivial matter. Generations ago the US Supreme Court ruled that disclosure was a defendant’s constitutional right. The failure was not trivial. A video showing that the defendant had less than 4 minutes to beat his partner to death, wipe off the blood and go down 13 floors was critical to the defense.

The court was told that the video had been destroyed; that was a lie. The prosecution not only had the video it had enhanced it. A blood spatter expert was summoned to a deposition by the defense, only to have the prosecution cancel the defense deposition on the grounds that the expert had done no further work on the case since the last deposition. That was a lie. The expert had done more work at the request of the prosecutor. The re-trial had been delayed four times because the prosecution failed to follow the specific discovery orders of the judge. A few days before the hearing on discovery violation, the prosecution revealed that it had 22 cases of documents, about 20,000 pages, which it graciously allowed the defense to review in the prosecution office. The prosecution represented that its witnesses had no criminal record. That was a lie. One witness had a number of felony convictions. The prosecution claimed that Mr. Buchli had not been inconvenienced by these failures. Any piece of this hidden evidence might have cleared Mr. Buchli at trial 11 years ago. He was been confined for 11 years waiting for a fair trial and it is clear that the prosecution had no intention of letting that happen. The scary part is that they pulled this on a guy with the financial ability to hire a great lawyer and fight. What are they doing to everyone else?

We shall overcome.
